

Musical Theatre as Career Choice

David Ladd is a choral director and Music Department Chair at New Trier High School in Winnetka, Illinois where he has taught for nine years. One of his teaching assignments is Choir-Opera; an 80-voice group devoted to the study of musical theatre. Prior to his career in academia he was a professional actor in musical theatre where he performed in productions such as Damn Yankees, 42nd Street, Me and My Girl, Carousel, Jesus Christ Superstar and Cats as well as many revues in theme parks and on cruise ships. In 2003 he was granted a sabbatical to return to the profession of musical theatre and to pen this project. In his year's leave he performed on Broadway in The Actors' Fund benefit performance of Chess and earned his Equity card while performing in a production of Footloose at Westchester Broadway Theatre.
